

State of the Art

Integrating outdoor education into the curriculum allows for a diversified and balanced approach to learning by implementing new teaching techniques.

Research Purpose

📌 The study explores the way in which outdoor education is integrated into the school curriculum, in the Religion discipline.

Methodology

Brief review focused on:

- ✎ the curriculum;
- ✎ the influence of outdoor education in the generation and development of knowledge, attitudes, skills on students;
- ✎ the fruition of positive teaching-learning-evaluation experiences at Religion discipline.

The study:

- ✎ seeks to improve or correct the openness to the use of outdoor education in the discipline of Religion.

Result 1:

! Integrating outdoor education into Religion can provide students with tools and skills for managing emotions, resolving conflicts, and developing healthy social relationships.

Result 2:

! Integrating interdisciplinary content in a larger context allows students to see the interconnections between fields, helping them develop a holistic understanding and apply knowledge in real contexts.